Students begin programming on cable access channel

Broadcasting at Wartburg has taken the leap from radio to cable television. Last week, communication arts students began producing television broadcasts on local access channel 31.

The channel has been set aside for Wartburg's use by Heritage Cable, which serves Waverly.

The production crew consists of students who have taken courses including Survey of Electronic Media, Television Production and Corporate Video. Grant Price, communication arts executive-in-residence, is the adviser.

As their first projects in the new area of cable telecasting, the crew broadcast the women's basketball game vs. Central and a half-time feature with men's basketball coach Lewis "Buzz" Levick, a campus community forum dealing with international multiculturalism and a delayed telecast of the Jesse Jackson Jr. convocation.

According to Price, the goal of the project is to bring a measurable amount of quality to the productions.

"I am very pleased with the extent to which students have grasped the skills," Price said. "Everything is going very well."

This term, students have undertaken three formats including a campus community forum, a convocations telecast and a broadcast of either a men's or women's basketball game.

According to Price, the goals for Fall Term 1993 are these three formats with the possibility of expansion to other programming. A new class, Advanced Television Production and Reporting, will be offered during Winter Term 1994 and will hopefully include a regular Wartburg newscast, probably on a weekly basis, Price said.

Two programs scheduled to be aired this week include the Graven Award convocation and men's basketball game vs. Loras. They will be shown Wednesday at 6:30 p.m., Thursday at 9:30 a.m. and Friday at 1 p.m.

Next week a campus community forum on environmental issues and either the men's or women's basketball game vs. Simpson will be broadcast.

Regents approve small tuition hike

Student costs for the 1993-94 academic year at Wartburg College will increase 6.76 percent, the smallest increase in two years.

The action was taken this weekend by the college's Board of Regents at its annual winter meeting.

The total increase is $920 for tuition, fees, board and room, making basic costs $14,530. Last year, the Regents approved an increase of 7 percent, which also was down from 9.09 percent in 1991.

Tuition and fees go up $720 or 6.9 percent, while room costs are up 6.76 percent and board costs up 5.65 percent, which amounts to $100 for each.

"The board's action reflects the priorities of the college," President Robert Vogel said. "It is the mission of the college to provide a distinctive and quality education to our students at the lowest possible cost."

An increase of 10.2 percent is being planned in the budget of Wartburg-funded student financial aid, according to Dr. Ronald Matthias, vice president for administration and finance.

Funding for academic programs, including expanded cultural immersion experiences, will be increased by 12.97 percent, and library and computer enhancement funds will be increased by 14.7 percent in the budget being planned, he said.

Lutheran Youth Organization member kicks off Spiritual Emphasis Week

Sean McMillan, the youngest member on the church council of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, opened Wartburg College's Spiritual Emphasis Week with a public address Saturday. He also gave the sermon at the campus worship service Sunday.

McMillan is a pre-law student at Wagner College in Staten Island, NY, and is one of two Lutheran Youth Organization members on the ELCA church council.

His theme is more involvement by the church in justice issues including addressing racism and women's issues.

He has become a nationally known speaker, appearing before

Lutheran, Jewish and Muslim groups in Canada and all over the United States.

Spiritual Emphasis Week, which has the theme "Built on a Rock," continues through Saturday, Feb. 27, when it concludes with a Habitat for Humanity Work Day.

Monday's chapel in Neumann Auditorium at 10:15 a.m. will be led by the Christ's Gestures clown ministry group.

The annual Judge Henry N. and Helen T. Graven Award for outstanding Christian lay work will be presented at a 9:30 a.m. convocation Tuesday, Feb. 23, in Neumann Auditorium. The award is named after prominent Christian lay workers from Greene.

The Lenten season begins during Spiritual Emphasis Week with an Ash Wednesday Worship Service Feb. 24 at 10 a.m. in Neumann Auditorium, with President Robert Vogel preaching. Classes will end at 9:50 a.m. to allow students and faculty to attend the service.

"While the Ash Wednesday Service is a formal service," the Rev. Larry Trachte, campus pastor, said, "students, faculty and staff are invited to come as they are."

Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m., Dr. Paul Allen and Sister Billie Greenwood of Loras College will give a slide presentation on their service to the poor in Nicaragua in Luther Hall Room 324.

Health care giant to receive Graven Award

One of the giants in public health, particularly children's medicine, is Wartburg College's fourth recipient of the Judge Henry N. and Helen T. Graven Award for outstanding Christian lay work.

Dr. William H. Foege, who is credited with being the driving force behind the eradication of smallpox in the world, will receive the award at a Spiritual Emphasis Week convocation Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. in Neumann Auditorium. Foege also will be the featured speaker.

The Graven Award is funded by the Judge Henry N. and Helen T. Graven Endowment for The Ministry of the Laity: The Church in the World and goes to a lay person "whose life is nurtured and guided by a strong sense of Christian calling and who is making a significant contribution to community, church and society."

Previous recipients include Nebraska artist Reinhold Marxhausen, whose imaginative work has garnered him national attention; Dr. Arnold R. Michelson, former coordinator of the Commission on a New Lutheran Church, which led to the merger that created the present Evangelical Lutheran Church in America; and Dr. Anne Carlsen, who has been associated with The Anne Carlsen School for handicapped children in Jamestown, N.D., for more than 50 years.

Foege, a former executive director of The Carter Center of Emory University in Atlanta for six years, remains a Fellow for Health Policy with the Carter Center. He was director of the Centers for Disease Control from 1977-1983 after two years as assistant director.

He directed the Smallpox Eradication Program for the Centers for Disease Control from 1970-1973 after four years as an epidemiologist with that program and a Measles Control program.

He also was a medical officer in New Delhi, India, and Yahe, Eastern Nigeria.

Foege is still active in numerous health-related programs and serves as a board member or adviser to such groups as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Injury Control Program, Health Ministries Association, Inc., the Olympic Environmental Support Group in Atlanta and others.

The recipient of an honorary degree from Wartburg in 1979, he has won numerous other honors, the latest being the 1992 Healthtrac Prize for the Improvement of the Health of the Public.

He has also won the Abraham M. Lilienfeld Award from the American College of Epidemiology, the Lester Breslow Award from the Los Angeles County Department of Health Services, the Bruce Award from the American College of Physicians and the Health for All Medal from the World Health Organization.

He has had a number of teaching appointments including the London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine, the School of Public Health at Harvard and the School of Medicine at Emory.

He is a 1957 graduate of Pacific Lutheran University in Washington and has his M.D. degree from the University of Washington and his M.P.H. degree from Harvard.

Judge Henry N. and Helen T. Graven were lay people from Greene who made significant contributions to the church.

Judge Graven practiced law in Greene from 1921 until he was named judge of the Iowa District Court in 1937. President Franklin Roosevelt appointed him Federal District Judge in 1944, and he became Senior Federal Judge in 1961, a position he held until his death in 1970.

His wife Helen, who served 14 years on the Wartburg Board of Regents, was a leader in the Greene community, heading up Campfire Girls and initiating a preschool. She continues to live in Minneapolis.

Recycling topic of next leadership dinner

BY MICHAEL PEASLEY

"Making the Difference: Save Mother Earth," is the theme for the upcoming Leadership Issues Dinner that will be held Thursday, March 18, at 6 p.m. in the Castle Room.

After the meal students will discuss recycling and how it affects the environment.

"It should be a social responsibility for people to recycle," Bob Tran, '94, dinner coordinator, said.

According to Tran, the purpose of the dinner and discussion is to make people aware of the problem so they can take action.

"We will save the earth for many generations if we start recycling," he said.

Interested students may sign up at the Information Desk.

Two advance to final round

Speech team places first

The Wartburg Speech Team earned a first place plaque and two student awards at the State of Iowa speech contest at Graceland College in Lamoni this past weekend.

With eight team members participating in 11 events, Wartburg placed first in the President's Division, a class for teams with fewer than 12 entries. Other schools in this division were Graceland College and Iowa State University.

Competition in rounds was against larger teams from schools including the University of Northern Iowa, Cornell College, Loras College, Central College and Grandview College.

Coach Peg Hanfelt said she was pleased with the team's performance.

"I thought the team did wonderfully well," she said. "Everybody grew and placed favorably in the rounds."

Wartburg also had two contestants break into the final round in their events. Paul Everding, '94, placed sixth out of 15 contestants in extemporaneous speaking while Deb Timm, '95, placed seventh out of 22 in prose interpretation.

Everding and Timm also competed in impromptu speaking and dramatic duo, respectively.

Other team members participating included Heather Durlam, '96, dramatic duo; Nate Hill, '94, program oral interpretation and impromptu speaking; Elizabeth Leas, '96, prose interpretation; Heidi Schafer, '95, program oral interpretation; Christopher Warmanen, '95, expository address and dramatic duo; and Brad Wood, '95, Impromptu speaking and dramatic duo.

Marlene Geurts, '93; Brenda Haines, '95; Joe Johnson, '93; and Jesse Severe, '96, also participated in competitions throughout the year.

"The rewards are finally starting to come after our hard work," said Hanfelt. "It shows that we are going in the right direction."

Hanfelt is planning an event in March to showcase the talents of team members. She said it will make students and faculty more aware of the team's endeavors.

"There are so many areas of speaking that fit many disciplines," Hanfelt said. "I am always interested in having more people join our winning team."

Program highlights minority progress

BY CHRISTOPHER WARMANEN

Thursday's African American History Showcase was a delightful montage of fact, interpretation, song and dance.

The evening opened with the black national anthem, "Lift Every Voice and Sing," led by Theresa Keel, '96. Thoughtful biographies and works of prominent African Americans were presented by several students. Most memorable was a performance by Amy Gosnell, '95, in full southern dress.

A humorous montage of lip-synched music followed, with participants taking turns leading music ranging from blues to rap.

On the serious side, emcee Venus Stacks, '95, sang a spine-tingling spiritual and Lee Johnson, '94, gave a compelling call-to-action speech entitled "What are we doing to finish the work?" She said no more social change will take place unless we all work together to make things happen.

I was impressed by the extent of the participants' racial and gender mix. Bravo to the Cultural Awareness Organization.

The evening ended with the cast singing "We Shall Overcome." In a beautiful moment, Dr. Herman Diers, professor of religion, exclaimed that "they shouldn't be the only ones having all the fun." The audience and cast members then joined in a large circle and the program was brought to an appropriate, racial solidarity close.

Leadership class stresses taking action for community's sake

BY JOY JURRIES

Wartburg College defines leadership as "taking responsibility for our communities and making them better through public action."

Wartburg students took that responsibility and engaged in many leadership projects as part of the Leadership Theories and Practices course, offered during Fall Term.

Dr. Fred Waldstein, associate professor of political science and director of the Institute for Leadership Education, instructed the course which focused on characteristics of leadership and taking action.

"As educators, in general, we do a good job in preparing for careers," Waldstein said. "But we don't fare as well in developing responsible citizenship which is critical in our democracy."

Projects are designed to not only help the campus, but the Waverly community and Bremer County as well.

Work on campus included promotions for recycling, student organization brochures and organizing and staffing blood drives. Community efforts took on hurricane relief tasks, tutoring at local schools and a "Personal Service Directory" for Bremer County.

"The students obtain a sense of confidence that they can make a contribution," Waldstein said.

The next event students will take part in is the Iowa College Student Aid Program in April.

Academic success deserves recent added recognition

The American Heritage Dictionary defines college as "a school of higher learning that grants the bachelor's degree in liberal arts or science or both." But until this year, the main purpose of college—that of learning—was not often recognized enough at Wartburg.

Take for example campus publications. Every week news, arts, opinion and sports are covered in the Trumpet, but little about academics is. Last year's Fortress was also criticized for its lack of academic program coverage.

This year, however, things are different. It's a feeling conveyed in several departments on campus because Wartburg has been making a more conscious effort to recognize and support academics.

The annual reporting of students who are named to the Dean's List is one such effort. The names of Presidential Scholars were also published in an advertisement paid for by the President's office in the Trumpet, giving those students their due recognition. A major share of next year's Fortress will also profile academic programs.

The efforts go beyond publishing names in campus publications. Last week, leaders of campus organizations were invited to a Presidential Luncheon with President Vogel. Presidential Scholars were also recognized at a reception in their honor.

Hopefully this promotion of academics will not stop with these few programs. President Vogel is trying to receive student input about what they would like to see done to recognize academics here at Wartburg. All of these efforts support the theory that academics are gaining their due recognition, and deservedly so since academics are the main reason we students are here.

Editor's Note:

The reason no letters in support of Hornaday/Kreinbring appear in this issue of the Trumpet is that none were received. In the interest of fairness, we invite letters endorsing these student body president/vice president candidates.

Stop whining about food

Complaining about certain problems associated with college life is usually warranted and respected. If we remained silent, all too often that silence is misinterpreted by the powers-that-be as the ruled agreeing with the rulers. With no one complaining, the people in charge believe they must be doing something right. This is an entirely overused and false assumption.

But what if we consider the opposite extreme—those who complain too much. Those types of individuals are also of little help to society because their relentless complaints are often registered just for the sake of complaining.

Thus, I am going to register a complaint against certain complainers. The group I want to single out happens to be a majority of Wartburg students—those individuals who relentlessly bicker about the food service. It is continual. It is unavoidable. It seems no matter what our food service does to comply with students' needs, someone is always there to pout.

First and foremost, I want to say how much I appreciate our food service. This praise comes not from an employee who takes pride in his work, but from a student who has experienced the food service from only the customer's point of view. Certainly there are some meals that do not completely satisfy my palette. I also admit that there are some food service practices that get on my nerves. But overall, the benefits and outstanding quality of our college's food service far outweighs any of its faults.

We have one of the most outstanding food services, not only in this state, but in the country. The incredible variety of food offered for lunch and supper is amazing.

It's All Too Much

Andrew Howie

Take for instance supper. We have a choice of: 1) two hot entrées and two side dishes in the hot meal line; 2) a deli that provides countless options for cold sandwiches; 3) a fully supplied salad bar; 4) a grill that provides a separate hot entrée; 4) a fruit/dessert bar; 5) a waffle iron for fresh waffles anytime; 5) the choice of coffee, tea, hot cocoa, milk and we are one of the only cafeterias in the state that provides both Pepsi and Coke products; and 6) the best part, a hard-ice cream bar that almost everyone enjoys. Even with all of these options, students still complain that there is nothing good to eat. Anyone who cannot find some suitable edibles in this menagerie of fine cuisine is obviously too lazy to look.

Not only is the variety of food unbelievable, the service is fantastic. The cafeteria is always very clean. The time to wait is relatively short. And the atmosphere is quite comfortable.

It pains me greatly every time I hear someone maliciously condemn our cafeteria. Though there is a time for some honest complaints (i.e. providing more vegetarian entrées), to anyone who says we have a bad food service, bite your tongue! We should quit our complaining and count our blessings.

A suggestion the food service might consider to stop unneeded complaints is the food service newsletter. I remember seeing it at various times in the cafeteria. It is an excellent source of communication. Most unnecessary complaints are based on misunderstandings students dream up.

Wartburg's food service is one of the strongest assets this college has. I applaud Don Juhl and everyone else who works there. Bravo! Keep up the good work!

Read these quips—no new taxes?

Bill Clinton has done it again. The latest controversy is his new tax hikes. Top lobbyist groups are calling for his beheading. But wait—maybe he knows what he's doing.

The most powerful group in Washington is the elderly. They claim the cuts will force them to live on the streets or with their relatives. They say they deserve the money because they have lived through the Great Depression and fought in two world wars.

Aren't these the same grandparents who should be baking cookies and giving their wonderful grandchildren large sums of money? And they call us the "me" generation?

Our generation has gone through just as much as they have. We lived through the unspeakable horrors of the war in Grenada, the pain of having both Miami and Notre Dame win national titles and the agony of watching three of those stupid Ernest movies. All along, we knew that when it was time to get our Social Security checks,

Food for Thought

the Federal Treasury would have only as much money as I have in my checking account—$1.51. But we didn't complain.

Maybe the elderly do deserve to keep their money, but one fact remains—the government owes $4 trillion. For those keeping score at home, that's almost half of Letterman's new salary. I would pay it personally, but I found out you can't make much money doing slave labor at Burger King.

The truth is, the only way to pay the debt is with higher taxes. You can't do it through government cuts, there just isn't enough money out there. Even Clinton's plan is only a drop in the bucket compared to the deficit, and it will only get worse. At the current rate, the deficit will be $7.5 trillion just ten years from now.

No one likes taxes, but the future of the United States as an economic power depends on them. I'm sorry to break it to you, but the 80s are over.

Student body president/vice president candidates recommended by Severson

I am writing to declare my full support of Student Senate presidential and vice-presidential candidates, Beth Onsrud and Heather McClintock.

As a former floor member of Beth's, and as a senator this past year, I have been able to witness first-hand her tremendous leadership abilities. Ms. Onsrud is by far the most competent, hard-working and devoted senator we have here at Wartburg. Beth has the experience to make responsible decisions as student body president and the basic initiative to move Senate forward.

When Beth says she wants to hear our concerns, she's genuinely interested and I am completely confident that we'll receive feedback from her. Beth Onsrud has the "follow through" needed by this campus to establish better communication and efficiency in Senate, to help control tuition increases, to increase student input in school calendar and the new residence hall and to address all other issues brought to her attention.

Beth's choice of Heather McClintock for vice president enhances all she already has to offer us. They are a well-rounded pair that will work well together with Senate and for Wartburg.

Voting for student body president and vice president is not to be taken lightly by students. I urge all of you to read the candidates' platforms and decide for yourself who's better qualified for the positions. As for me—I cast my vote for Onsrud and McClintock.

Karn Severson, '95

Onsrud/McClintock endorsed by ACT exec

As an executive member of ACT, I feel that Beth Onsrud and Heather McClintock are more aware of the possibilities for environmental efforts on campus. Energy conservation options in regards to lighting, water and electricity need to be addressed in order to cut costs for the college and for the students. I feel that Beth and Heather are the best candidates for student body president and vice president to help ACT, students and the community achieve these goals. Their experiences in student government and working relationships with the administration can only benefit the student body.

Highest total for any Knight ever

Roberts breaks 2,000-point scoring mark

BY TIM SEEGER

Saturday against Loras, Kathy Roberts became the first Wartburg basketball player — man or woman — to score 2,000 points in a career.

Roberts broke Lisa Uhlenhopp's Wartburg's career scoring record of 1,707 earlier in the year.

Coach Monica Severson said that many things have contributed to Roberts' success at Wartburg.

"She's a tremendous shooter, which is something you don't teach people," Severson said. "She has also played with some other really good ballplayers that have helped make her better."

Roberts, who is a forward, shoots well in the paint and outside the three-point line. Last year she shot 43.2 percent from the three-point line.

"You always know down the stretch that you want the ball in her hands," Severson said. "But she has also learned to use the other players on the team. She always plays within the team concept."

Roberts said that breaking 2,000 points was a big milestone for her, but it's not that big a deal.

She scored 3,400 career points at Eldora High School.

"Basketball has always been in the family," Roberts said. "My brothers and my dad and I always played quite a bit."

Severson said that Roberts came with all the tools to become an outstanding scorer, but she has also improved in other areas.

"Kathy wasn't blessed with great quickness," Severson said. "But she has really stepped up in her defense and rebounding."

Roberts said her goals for the team are to win the remaining three conference games and finish in at least a first-place tie with Central in the Iowa Conference.

"We would also like to get as far in the NCAA Tournament as we did last year and maybe one step further," Roberts said.

Last year the Lady Knights made it to the final eight.

Severson said, "I'm not sure if we'll see another ballplayer at Wartburg as good as Kathy."

WE'RE NOT WORTHY! WE'RE NOT WORTHY!—Members of the women's basketball team kowtow in humility before Kathy Roberts Saturday night after she scored her 2000th career point at Wartburg.

A SEASON FOR MILESTONES—First came Lewis "Buzz" Levick's 500th career victory as Wartburg's men's basketball coach. Then Kathy Roberts' became the first Knight basketball player to score 2000 career points. Here, Roberts receives the game ball with which she did it from Coach Monica Severson.

Wartburg's first conference title since 1978

Nine Knight wrestlers qualify for nationals

Number one ranked Wartburg sent nine wrestlers to the championship matches and won its first Iowa Conference title since 1978 at the Iowa Conference Tourney in Indianola Friday.

The Knights totaled 157 points to beat second-place Buena Vista who had 101.75. Loras finished third with 98.75 and host Simpson was fourth with 98.5.

Those nine qualifiers will wrestle at the NCAA Division III meet Mar. 5-6 in New London, CN.

Zane Braggs, Michael Doyle, Lance Christenson and Jon Dawley all finished first.

Chris Ristau, Jamal Fox, Kevin McCarthy, Tom Hogan and Brad Tholen were second.

Ristau lost a tight 3-1 overtime match to Upper Iowa's top-rated Tyrone Fambro. The last time the two met Fambro beat Ristau soundly 18-9.

Coach Jim Miller was named conference coach of the year.

Women's track team finishes first, men sixth at Iowa Conference Indoors in Decorah Wartburg's women's track team had six individual champions and two relay champions at the Iowa Conference Indoor Invitational Saturday as they finished first.

The men's team struggled a bit more and ended up finishing sixth among the nine teams.

The women had 175 points easily outdistancing second-place Luther who had 132.

Central finished first on the men's side with 152 points, and Simpson placed second. Wartburg's sixth-place total was 41 points.

Coach Steve Johnson was pleased with both team's performances, but said both teams still had a lot of work to do.

"I was expecting the women to win by 60 or 80 points, instead of just 40, so we could have done better," Johnson said. "Even though the men's team finished sixth, I'm still pleased with how competitively we're running."

Three indoor conference records were set by the women. Esther Dubec's time of 3:05 in the 1000 m run set a record.

Wartburg's 4 x 800 relay team (Jen Larson, Esther Dubec, Julie Kesi, Sally Balvin) and 4 x 400 relay team (Michelle Gade, Heather Hargrave, Billy Jo Steffenson, Lea Lucas) both set records with times of 10:00 and 4.12 minutes, respectively.

Angie Cornelius scored the most points for the women's team. She finished first in the long jump with a jump of 16'7. She was second in the 55 m hurdles in 9.1 seconds and third in the 55 m dash in 7.5 seconds.

Bridget Carney successfully defended her title from last year in the 1500 m run in 4:57. Laura Garton finished second in 4:58.

Heather Hargrave finished first in the 400 m dash in 62 seconds, and Ann Altman was second in 63.2.

Lea Lucas was first in the 600 m dash in 1:41.6 minutes.

Shannon Timmins was first in the 5000 m run in 19:09, and Laura Max was second in 19:15.

Shelley Hammond finished second in the shot put with a throw of 37'2, and Wendy Ahrendsen was fourth with 36'6.

Johnson said Sarah Zimmermann and Denise McMillin had good meets.

Zimmerman finished third in the triple jump with a jump of 32'. Johnson said she is just starting to learn the triple jump.

McMillen also did well, finishing fourth in the long jump with 16'2 and sixth in the 55 m dash in 7.5 seconds.

Both Kris Bouman and Robyn Olson missed the meet. Bouman, who was the conference champion high jumper and a national qualifier last year, is recovering from a sore achilles. She should return this week.

Olson was sick most of the week, so Johnson decided not to run her.

The men's top performer was J.J. Rochford, who finished second in the triple jump with 49'3.

Mike Lucas finished third in the shot put with a toss of 46', and Kevin Hudson was fourth with 45'2.

Johnson said Derek Oden had a "very good meet." He finished fourth in the 1500 m run in 4:06.9. That mark would have tied the old indoor conference record.

Oden was also fifth in the 1000 m run in 2:39.2. Both times were personal bests for him.

Dan Hugo was fourth in the triple jump with 40'9, and Troy Buchholz finished fifth with 40'8.

Jeff Allen was seventh in the 5000 m run in 16:21.5. Johnson said Allen is making some tremendous strides, because his best run in high school was 17 minutes.

The 4 x 800 relay team (Justin Smith, Matt Hansen, Jason MacTaggart, Matt Jones) finished fourth in 8:27. The first three runners ran their personal fastest 800s.

The 4 x 400 relay team (Todd McClain, Josh Watyers, Trent Holmberg, Craig Perry) also finished fourth in 3:35.

Gary Arends missed the track meet on account of a pulled muscle.

Some members of the women's and men's teams will compete this weekend at the ???

Last year the women finished fifth and the men were ninth.

Johnson said the men hope to improve a couple spots, and the women will run to win.

Men cagers cling to lead tie

BY DAN DIGMANN

By utilizing the home court advantage this weekend, the Wartburg men's basketball team earned a pair of wins to stay tied with Dubuque for first in the Iowa Conference.

Friday the Knights (15-7 overall, 10-3 in conference) beat the William Penn Statesmen 83-68 and pulled off a 51-50 overtime win Saturday against the third-place Loras Duhawks.

Against the Statesmen, the Knights' quick offensive transition proved to be a key factor in the victory.

"We got a lot of defensive rebounds and made good transitions back to offense," Coach Buzz Levick said. "William Penn didn't recover on to defense very well and that gave us a lot of open lay-ups."

With 8:30 left in the first half, the game was tied at 22. But two free throws by Mark Franzen sparked a 17-2 run to put the Knights up 39-24 with 2:53 left in the half.

Shooting 61 percent from the field in the first half, the Knights earned a 44-31 halftime lead.

In the second half, although Wartburg was outshot by the Statesmen 44 percent to 55 percent, the Knights led by as many as 20 points.

The Knights had four players in double figures and were led by Rob Kain with 23 points. Matt Leary scored 18, while Doug Hall and Dave Denly both had 13.

Saturday's game proved to be tougher, as the Knights needed an overtime to pull off the win.

The Knights opened the game with an 8-0 run. The Duhawks later had an 8-0 run of their own to draw within one point. But Wartburg gained control and had a 24-16 lead at the half.

"I think the reason the score was so low was they were using up the clock on offense," Hall said. "There would be times when they would go down and not even look at the basket until there was 30 seconds off the shot clock."

The second half started with another 8-0 Wartburg run and the Knights built up a 40-29 lead with 8:38 left in the game.

But a tough Duhawk zone defense stopped the Knights' offense and broke their rhythm.

"It seemed like we were stuck on 40 points forever," Hall said. "They ran a very good 1-2-2 zone that shut us down."

The Duhawks went on a 13-2 run to tie the game at 42 with 58 seconds left in the game.

With 20 seconds left a tip in by Leary put the Knights up 44-42, but a lay-up by Loras' Keith Snelson with four seconds left sent the game into overtime.

In overtime the game was tied at 50, but Brian Farrell made a free throw with three seconds left to lift the Knights to a 51-50 win.

"Both sides played very good defense," Levick said. "The thing about the Loras defense was they went from a man-to-man to a zone and back to a man which really broke up our rhythm."

Leary led the Knights with 23 points.

Wartburg will play at Buena Vista Tuesday and then wrap up the season at home against Simpson Friday and Upper Iowa Saturday.

The Wartburg women's basketball team bounced back with two victories after last week's upset against Luther.

The victories came against William Penn on Friday and Loras on Saturday.

The two wins move Wartburg's conference record to 11-2 and keep them in contention for the conference title with Central. Central also has an 11-2 record with three games remaining.

Wartburg is hoping to finish first or tied for first in the conference for the third time in four years, while Central is looking for its first conference title since it shared it with three other teams in 1985.

"The must win attitude, to stay in contention for the conference title, effected shooting," Coach Monica Severson said. The Knights shot 33.7 percent from the field against William Penn.

Friday night's 73-62 win was attributed to good defense and rebounding, according to Severson. The Knights outrebounded their opponent 42-31 and forced 19 turnovers.

Kathy Roberts led the way with 15 points and 10 rebounds.

"Saturday, we played a well rounded game and were much more relaxed," said Severson.

The Knights jumped out to 5-0 lead and never looked back, defeating Loras 84-47.

The women were 4-4 from 3-point range and averaged 50.9 percent from the field.

Free throws also proved effective as the Knights shot 80 percent from the line, sinking 24 out of 30.

Roberts was high scorer with 23 points followed by Melanie Miller with 13. Roberts was also top rebounder pulling down 10.

The Knights will travel to Buena Vista Tuesday and conclude the conference season with two home games this weekend against Simpson and Upper Iowa.

Who knew Wartburg was like this?

WHAT ARE ALL THE CAGES FOR?—This isn't a medieval torture chamber for students who don't make the Dean's List. It's the student equipment room in the Fine Arts Center. Band students store their instruments and music in the "cages" in this room.

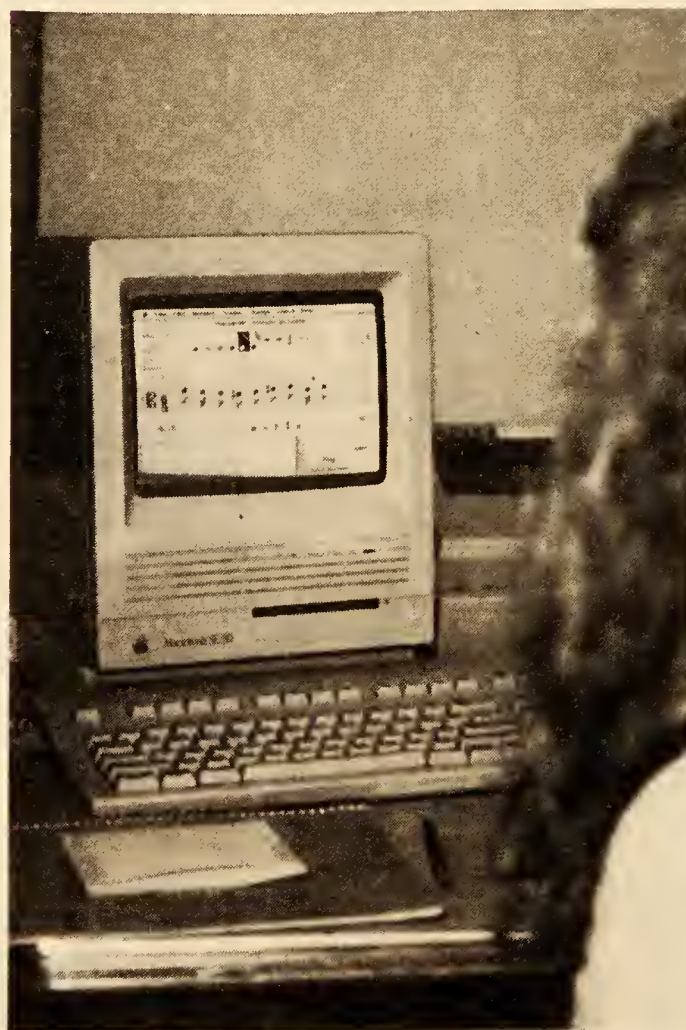

IS THIS THE LOUNGE?—Most Wartburg students have probably never been in the Art Department unless they're taking an art class. This is the hallway and one of the display cases located between art classrooms in the Fine Arts Center.

IT'S GREIG'S MUSIC IN DAVENPORT—This room isn't part of a display in a piano/organ store. Located on the second floor of the Fine Arts Center, the keyboards in the piano lab are used by students in music classes.

ARE WE LIVE?—No, this isn't part of the KWAR studio. Located above the symphony hall in the Fine Arts Center, the recording room allows live recordings of performances to be made.

THAT DOESN'T LOOK LIKE FORTRAN TO ME—Computer science students generally don't dabble in these kinds of programs at Wartburg. But music students do. Here, a student works in the listening lab on the second floor of the FAC.

This feature is third in a series of "Wartburg's hidden places"—places on campus most students don't know about. It was prepared by Brad Waller with photographs by Joel Becker and Paul Everding.
